

Stephen: Morning!

Ashlie: Morning, Stephen. Did you sleep OK?

Stephen: Yeah, great. All that fresh country air. It's really peaceful here.

Ashlie: Mmm, it's lovely.

Stephen: Are you ready for breakfast?

Ashlie: Oh, well that would be great.

Stephen: Well, there are lots of eggs.

Ashlie: Are there? Where are they?

Stephen: They're not here. You have to go and get them.

Ashlie: But we must be miles away from a supermarket.

Stephen: Not from a supermarket. This is a working holiday. We have to work to pay for our stay.

Ashlie: What?

Stephen: Here you are. You'll need this.

Stephen: It smells awful in here.

Ashlie: Oh, I've got one. And another one.

Stephen: I can't find any.

Ashlie: Try looking under a chicken, Stephen. Just pick one up. Stephen!

Stephen: Right. Let's cook breakfast.

Farmer: Did you get any?

Stephen: Yes! I got loads!

Ashlie: Mmm, these are wonderful. They're much better when they're fresh.

Stephen: You can't beat fresh eggs. Right. Soon as breakfast is out of the way, we've got to do some work.

Farmer: Right, we need to shift those bales from over there to over there.

Ashlie: Stephen, this looks like your kind of work. I'm going to pick some vegetables.

Stephen: Uh?

Ashlie: Well, someone has to think about lunch.

Farmer: OK, Stephen. Now can you put those up there?

Stephen: This is really hard work!

Ashlie: Stephen, look at your hair!

Stephen: I'm exhausted.

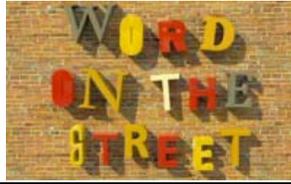

Ashlie: Well, I've almost got lunch. We just need one more thing. Come with me.

Ashlie: Right, all we need now is some potatoes. Here's your fork, start digging.

Ashlie: That's it! Great. Try over here. Lovely. Just need a few more and then we'll be ready for lunch. Keep going.

Stephen: I'm exhausted. Isn't it your turn to dig?

Ashlie: Right, yeah, I think we've got enough now. Come on, let's make some lunch.

Stephen: We should have gone to the supermarket.

Ashlie: You have a rest and I'll make some lunch.

Farmer: Listen, I need your help.

Ashlie: What's wrong?

Farmer: I've lost a sheep. It's escaped from the top field.

Ashlie: A sheep has escaped?

Stephen: We can go, but how do we catch it?

Ashlie: I'll make some lunch, you do the sheep.

Ashlie: Oh, did you catch the sheep?

Stephen: Yes. Come and see it. It's huge!

Ashlie: Stephen!
